Failure to provide requested details may result in additional charges or non-refundable cancellation of your tour.

Our visits are guaranteed to depart once we have confirmed this with you, except in exceptional circumstances. We may cancel a visit at any time prior to departure if natural disaster, terrorism, political instability, or other external events mean it is not viable for us to continue as planned. If we cancel your visit you can switch to an alternative departure date or receive a full refund. In circumstances where the cancellation is due to external events outside our reasonable control refunds we will retain any unrecoverable costs.

8. Changes in itinerary

While we endeavour to operate all visits as described we reserve the right to change the itinerary.

Before departure: If we make changes to the itinerary we will inform you as soon as reasonably possible if there is time before departure.

After departure: We reserve the right to change an itinerary after departure due to local circumstances or events outside of our control. This would be due to unexpected unavailability of items on the itinerary or due to safety reasons.
Travel to an area of military occupation and political difficulties requires considerable flexibility and you should allow for alternatives. The itinerary provided for each visit is representative of the kind of visit we plan, but schedules and itineraries and transport may be subject to alteration without prior notice due to local circumstances or events.

9. Foreign office guidance

We generally follow foreign office advice, and this may mean changes to our itinerary.

The Foreign and Commonwealth Office publishes regularly updated travel information on its website

https://www.gov.uk/foreign-travel-advice/israel

https://www.gov.uk/foreign-travel-advice/the-occupied-palestinian-territories

We recommend you check FCO advice before booking and again in good time before departure. Where it considers it appropriate to do so, the FCO may advise against all travel or all but essential travel to particular areas or even countries. Similarly, the FCO may withdraw previous advice.

Where the FCO issues such advice, we would usually alter the tour to avoid the areas concerned. Alternatively, we may ask you to sign a form confirming you wish to proceed with the tour notwithstanding the FCO advice. It is in the nature of the itineraries we offer that the FCO may have issued such advice in areas we are intending to visit prior to confirmation of your booking. In this case, you will be asked to sign the above form before we confirm your booking. In such cases, you will need to ensure your travel insurance covers areas the FCO recommends not travelling to.

For the countries to which we travel, these requirements and standards may be likely to be lower than those applicable in the UK. In particular, standards of health and safety and hygiene are likely to be significantly below those which can be expected in the UK.
